Dayton & El Paso tragedies underscore the need to:

-ban semiautomatic weapons & high-capacity ammunition magazines;

-end hate speech that incites violence;

-return moral, honest, & competent leadership to the Oval Office.

We live in 21st century America; let’s act like it.

The theory behind it was they were locked out of most of their data because CIA took over everything and this was required to regain control. on the one hand I know many of these tards don't really give a fuck about computer shit and refuse to learn, so this insane bullshit about an alert "forcing" a database to be transferred in the middle of an emergency almost sound plausible.
on the other hand, I expect someone intelligent to be thinking clearly somewhere along the line, making sure no retarded automatic spergfile transfers can be hacked in this manner.
>alert was required to regain control this sounds as retarded as losing the control in the first place.

why would anyone set up files like this? there would be no reason to do it that way at all, and doing a false alert to hack a bug sounds too bullshitty.
that alert was a personal terror attack by the jap in charge who is still butthurt theylost ww2, just my opinion

Having a database move all it's data in the case of an unknown valid missile launch does sound plausible. Especially for national security and et cetera. I don't see why it would be so far fetched. Again, the other anon saying that doing a missile alert is a 3 step process requiring human confirmation is again more confirmation it was on purpose. That or a real missile was coming and was intercepted. Both theories are plausible. I was just giving the Q theory explanation on it according to Q drops. How would a bug keep the best and brightest of the NSA locked out of their database? It would have to be physical override of remote access and a total change of all credentials required to access. It's a bit of a stretch sure, but this cold war is heating up and I wouldn't put anything past the CIA at this point.

You can't just go and level a country because of something like an assassination attempt you tactless fucking curmudgeon. Politics is a game and you need to choose your moves very carefully because there are a lot of variables at play. One knee jerk reaction can EASILY snowball into you digging a hole you can't climb out of 4chan is completely compromised. (((they))) took down 8ch in complete coordination with the false flag shootings for a reason. (((shut it down))).

Mods on 4ch are not just traitors, they are active hostiles against US and military/intelligence organs working right now to stop the globalist criminals. All known, obviously.

Lol. The people are so servile, stupid and weak. They deserve no respect, no truth, no wisdom. We will spend their money as we see fit. We will never tell them what we spend it on. Why would we tell the sheep what we do with their wool? Why tell the cows how we prepare their meat?

Trump has told us nothing, will tell us nothing. Nothing has changed. How does it feel?

Haven't forgotten about it. Just tired of yelling into the loud wind and getting nowhere and subsequently demoralizing myself by doing so. Sisterfuckerhawaiianon and the hilarity of those threads has engraved the Hawaii missile scare event into my memories. Other missile scare in your OP was supposedly meant for Kim Jong Un's plane when Trump and Un had the Singapore summit.

Yup, 100% forgot about it.
What should we do? storm government facilities and shoot anyone that says "nothing happened" until they start dropping info and names?
Things get memory holed because theres always some new bullshit going on and nothing ever gets done about the last one. Its too much to keep track of.

I do not condone storming government facilities (other than area 51(jk plz dont shoot me) or shooting anybody. Those actions are those of a disturbed individual and I have not and will not support them. Every post I made on this site for the last 10 years has been satire.

Chinese are in complete collaboration mode with the globalist regime, believing that (((they))) will build the chinese a golden throne from which to enforce their vision of Pax Sinica (chinese overlordship) around the world in place of others.
Basically imperial japan on steroids, with complete enslavement of their own population with no culture, or morals aside from casual flag waving and occasional costume parties for appearance sakes, to make people think they are more "cultural" than the world.

Memory holing is someone that is intentionally trying to get u to forget things but to forget things is normal...you just cant remember everything at all times.

Heck what significance does this particular event have to your current every day life? What is this information good for? Nothing and that's why your brain forgets it, because it runs on efficiency and this in particular isnt useful to you now.

2017 September 28

"From now on, every missile that we fly will be a D-5 life-extended missile with a new guidance subsystem and a new set of missile electronics."
Although when most people think of the Trident life extension, they think of the missile, much of the work his office has been doing is on the shipboard systems, "which, I think, is much more complicated," he said.
That work is upgrading fire control, communications and navigation systems and the launch tubes, he said."

"The admiral added that his office, "in cooperation with" the Energy Department, is working on life extension of the Tridents' nuclear warheads, which also will arm the replacement submarines. And he is supervising tests of future missile launch tubes at ground test facilities at China Lake, Calif., and Cape Canaveral, Fla., that will enable production of the launch tubes in Columbia and Dreadnaught."

"Strategic Systems Program (SSP) Director Vice Adm. Terry Benedict said on Nov. 2 that “I’m very proud to report that at 0300 on Monday night SSP flew from Hawaii [Pacific Missile Range Facility] … the first conventional prompt strike missile for the United States Navy in the form factor that would eventually, could eventually be utilized if leadership chooses to do so in an Ohio-class tube. It’s a monumental achievement.”"
